Technology in Public Transport: Challenges to the operators, the Authorities and Industries.

Bogota - Colombia: October 6th,7th ,8th of 2010

The International Association of Public Transport UITP brings together 3000 entities of Urban Transport (local, regional e national) in 90 countries.

We represent almost all of the social actors: operators, authorities, industries who provide services and components, we represent also research institutes and academic representatives covering all the ways of transport such as: Subways, Bus, Regional and Suburban Trains, aquatic transport and non-motorized ways.

On October 6th in the 8th Session Latin America Division, ,Doing an analysis of the key trends which the region is going through. Will be presented an data summary of the key systems of transportation of American Latin countries.

An overview consisting costs of the rail system will be also presented, showing the latest investments in the continent.

The next step, on October 7th , will be presented the experience of many cities with their ticketing systems, always showing the role of authority and of the operators to implement an system ,and which technology has been chosen.

On October 8th the morning is reserved to a debate about environment, in the afternoon a technical visiting to the Transmilenio technological system.

All the event will be together with the celebration of transmilenio, which the international association of public transport recognizes to be a system which follows the concept of our strategy with the purpose to duplicate the world transport business for 2025
