Training Programme

Contracting for better public transport

Bologna, 22-23 April 2010

with the kind support of SRM - Reti e Mobilità S.p.A.

→ Target audience

- Top managers in organising authorities in the European Union
- Operators welcome (preferential rate for authorities coming with their operator)

→ Trainers

Mix of top level professionals from organising authorities and operating companies, EU and UITP experts as well as specialised consultants.

→ Methodology

- Basic principles and conceptual approach
- Good practice examples
- Interactive workshops to share experiences with other participants but also with instructors

“This training provides the opportunity for participants to get a broad knowledge on up-to-date practices in public transport contracting and relationship between authority and operator. The way the training is organised allows them to challenge their thinking on the way to organise public transport services. Legal and abstract issues are mixed with numerous real-world examples, making a bridge between theory and practice. Participants learn from the trainers but also from discussing with each other and it is always a great pleasure to see those animated discussions appear between participants.”

Didier van de Velde, inno-V, The Netherlands, Course Coordinator

Objectives

- ◆ Present basic definitions related to the institutional organisation of PT:
 - ⇒ PT actors: types of authorities, their role and competences
 - ⇒ Options for the allocation of decision-making in public transport between various actors: Strategic – Tactical – Operational levels
 - ⇒ Potential roles for competition, concepts of competitive tendering in public transport
 - ⇒ Types of contracts, levels of risk and sharing of risks and responsibilities between operator and authority
 - ⇒ Overview of organisational forms in local public transport: direct award, route tendering, network tendering, deregulation
 - ⇒ Regulatory and institutional framework (The European legislation)
