

SYSTRA PRESS CONFERENCE

Tuesday 9 June

11:30-13:30

Press Centre (VIP Lounge)

SYSTRA, the world's leading consultancy in urban transport and railway engineering, is putting its expertise at the service of sustainable mobility services. A new Group division, SYSTRA Conseil, has been created to achieve this. With SYSTRA Conseil, SYSTRA has at its disposal around a hundred specialists with the ability to meet the new transport related requirements of institutional and political decision-makers.

By consolidating the range of services and skills acquired by SYSTRA over the past few years, this new division aims to provide a better response to the needs of local authorities and public/private commissioning bodies faced with increasingly complex choices and a variety of mobility constraints. For SYSTRA, this means that studies on public transport systems cannot be handled in isolation but must now be related directly to other issues - such as intermodal transport, urban development, people with special needs, pedestrians, energy constraints, social impact, environmental impact, etc...

Philippe Citroën, Managing Director of SYSTRA, and Gérard Chaldoreille, director of SYSTRA Conseil, will be presenting this new offer and organisation on Tuesday 9 at 12.00 in the Press Centre (VIP Lounge).
