

Caroline Fabianski, Manager, Organising Authorities, UITP, Brussels, Belgium

Caroline Fabianski holds a Msc in Transport Economics from France and a PhD in Urban Planning and Project Management from the Bartlett/University College London. She worked in different contexts as a consultant and advisor, her experience spans different transport aspects but focuses in particular on institutional issues in developing cities. She worked one year in Intelligent Transport System where she participated in the specifications of a system/a software that enables the implementation of Gross and Net

Cost contracts. She is also an expert on the governance of Public-Private Partnership for the delivery of rail infrastructures.