

UITP SUSTAINABILITY CHARTER

With this Charter, leading UITP member's express their intent to advance efforts on sustainable development and public transport undertakings measuring and reporting their relevant corporate sustainability (CSR) policies, practices and achievements towards the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

All UITP members may support the Full Charter or the Pledge.

- Full members have already recognised their commitment to CSR and have a system in place for regular sustainability reporting. By supporting the Charter, UITP recognises their leading role within the sector on CSR practices and encourages them to align their reporting to the SDGs. Full Charter members agree to share best practices contained in their sustainability reports at least once between UITP World Congresses.
- Pledge members supporting the UITP Charter will look to establish a system at the earliest opportunity which will allow for regular sustainability reporting.
- Associations may also support the Charter and encourage their members to make a positive contribution to the SDGs and regular CSR reporting. In doing so, they agree to share best practices from their members with UITP.

UITP will promote the Charter network's contribution to sustainable development and deliver universal services to assist the sector to better report their non-financial performance and implement CSR practices aligned with the SDGs. In doing so, UITP can help organisations enhance their value, measure and manage change and drive improvement and innovation. This will allow for public transport actors to form an integral part of the post-2015 international sustainable development agenda and Paris Climate Agreement.

UITP and signatories will also use the Charter framework to measure progress and advance efforts towards SDG target 11.2 which calls on cities to expand their public transport networks by 2030.
