

Hilia Boris Iglesia, Manager, Transport Economics UITP

Hilia Boris Iglesia has a background in Political Science and Economics from England and two postgraduates in from Edinburgh University and University College London. She has also collaborated with various international and European urban networks.

She joined UITP in 2012, and as from 2013 she became responsible of the UITP Transport Economics Commission. She also provides support in UITP Statistics projects and advocacy activities carried by UITP, showcasing best cases of financing and funding practices within the Public Transport industry.